WELCOME TO CLEARCAST

CLEARCAST IN A NUTSHELL

Our primary job is to work with advertisers and agencies, on behalf of all major commercial broadcasters, to get ads to air by ensuring they won't mislead, cause harm or offend. We also enable advertising in many other ways.

WHERE WE FIT IN

UK broadcast advertising is co-regulated with the industry taking on responsibility (through the advertising levy funded ASA) for governance by agreement with statutory regulator Ofcom.

Non-broadcast advertising is self-regulated with both being governed by codes of practice that are designed to protect consumers and create a level playing field for advertisers. The UK system is regarded as setting a high standard for advertising regulation.

The UK Advertising Codes are determined by two industry committees: the Committee of Advertising Practice (CAP) and the Broadcast Committee of Advertising Practice (BCAP). These committees are made up of representatives from advertisers, media owners, agencies and clearance bodies.

The Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) administers these Codes and investigates complaints, later publishing its rulings. For more information on the ASA see page 9.

It is a condition of UK broadcaster licences that all advertising in broadcast media should not mislead, cause harm or offend, and broadcasters should therefore clear ads against the BCAP Code prior to transmission.

Broadcasters can face sanctions from Ofcom if they repeatedly carry ads that are in breach of the BCAP Code. Their obligations include ensuring before broadcast that ads are unlikely to be found in breach of the key principles of the Code and being in receipt of documentary evidence to prove any claims being made in the ad about a product or service. Clearcast undertakes preclearance for TV ads and advises on ads for Video on Demand. Radiocentre undertakes a similar role for radio advertising and the CAA (Cinema Advertising Association) for on-screen advertising in cinemas. Non-broadcast ads don't normally have to be cleared in advance, although CAP provides a copy advice service so that advertisers can reassure themselves that their ads won't fall foul of the CAP Code.

Clearcast is owned by the largest UK commercial broadcasters, with others as clients, and we share their interest in getting ads to air. Our clearance ethos is that we work with advertising agencies to help get ads to air and keep them there by ensuring they comply with the Codes. Importantly, we are not a regulator (that is the role of Ofcom, who delegate some of their powers to the ASA) and we do not create the rules (that is the role of CAP and BCAP).

The Codes are designed to reflect certain legal requirements (e.g. for financial ads) and guide broadcasters and advertisers as to what may or may not constitute acceptable advertising. The Codes do not, and cannot, fully prescribe explicitly what can or cannot be done. This would be impractical as prescriptive Codes would require constant updates and amendments as society changes and develops, and it would also have the potential to stifle creativity. In applying the Codes

We work with advertising agencies to help get ads to air and keep them there

In 2017 we considered more than 32,400 scripts and 61,200 films

we therefore use our industry knowledge and experience to make judgements about how an ad would be defended in the event a complaint is made.

For more information on the clearance process see the section entitled HOW COPY CLEARANCE WORKS on page 13.

Each year we consider more than 32,400 scripts and 61,200 filmed ads. Whilst we work hard to ensure that every one of these meets the Codes, there are inevitably some viewer complaints and some of these are investigated and upheld by the ASA. In 2017, 44 ads cleared by Clearcast were the subject of formally upheld complaints.

We take our role very seriously; if we are judged to get an ad clearance wrong by the ASA, then we review the process taken to reach that decision and take that ruling into account for future clearances.

I hope this introduction helps you understand why we're here. You'll find lots more information in the rest of this booklet but if you have any questions you can't find answered within, then please go to our website or email us at: enquiries@clearcast.co.uk.

ASA, BCAP AND THE CODES

Our role is to assist broadcasters and VoD publishers in getting acceptable ads on air and to keep them there

The Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) is officially recognised by the Government, the courts and other regulators like Ofcom as the body to deal with complaints about advertising. Although responsibility for regulation of broadcast advertising rests under law with Ofcom, they have delegated these responsibilities to the ASA, but Ofcom are still responsible for ads which may be political, sponsorship, product placement and Participation TV (gambling, adult chat & dating services). Other than this, the ASA's remit also includes non-broadcast ads and extends to cover certain marketing communications on marketers' own websites.

The ASA's ambition is to make every UK ad a responsible ad. They act on complaints and proactively check the media to take action against misleading, harmful or offensive ads by enforcing the advertising Codes. These Codes are written by two industry Committees - the Committee of Advertising Practice (CAP) and the Broadcast Committee of Advertising Practice (BCAP).

In the event that the ASA have cause to question an ad that has been broadcast, either through their monitoring activities, or because an issue has been brought to their attention by a complainant (for instance a member of the public, a particular body/society or a competitor advertiser), they may launch their own investigation and Clearcast and the advertiser will jointly respond. For our part, we will explain the rationale behind our clearance, outlining the processes and any discussions we may have had before clearing the ad.

Our role is to assist broadcasters and VoD publishers in getting acceptable ads on air and to keep them there. It is in everyone's best interest to ensure that no ad is ever complained about, but this can't always be prevented. It's the ASA's job to assess whether or not we got it right.

SOMEONE HAS COMPLAINED TO THE ASA ABOUT MY AD, WHAT SHOULD I DO?

The ASA writes to inform you that there has been a complaint. They outline the nature of the complaint and you are given seven days to respond in writing. Your Clearcast contact is also informed of the complaint by the ASA.

Clearcast and the ASA recommend that you channel your responses through us. This is a crucial part of the process and makes sure that we're aware of all arguments put forward in defence of the particular ad; it also ensures consistency in responses to the ASA.

We then outline our reasons for approving the ad. The ASA executive working on the complaint assesses all responses before deciding if the ad breaches the BCAP Code and drawing up a recommendation for the ASA Council on whether they think the complaint should be upheld or not. Both Clearcast and the advertiser are given a chance to comment on the draft before it is submitted to the ASA Council for ruling.

Once the Council has made a decision, we are told of the outcome; either upheld or not upheld and then let you know. If the complaint is upheld, we need to immediately remove the approval on our system and the ad is taken off air (or if it's a timing issue, it may have a timing restriction applied). The ASA publishes its rulings on its website. Advertisers with upheld rulings will need to provide replacement copy and this may sometimes be at short notice. If it is not upheld... good news... the ad can stay on air, with no further action required.

The ASA also informally investigates some complaints. The informal route is taken if the ASA thinks there is a straightforward breach of the Code and both Clearcast and the advertiser agree to make simple changes to an ad. Informal investigations are resolved quickly and the ASA publishes only short details of these complaints on its website, without a full ruling.

HOW COPY CLEARANCE WORKS

Our online submission system is called CopyCentral

You usually receive feedback within three working days

CAN ADVERTISERS LIAISE DIRECTLY WITH CLEARCAST?

We usually work with agencies rather than advertisers. However some advertisers do prefer to work with us directly. We have no preference other than to stipulate a single point of contact for a clearance so that communication doesn't get confused.

WHAT'S YOUR PROCESS?

The below process applies to ads of less than 5 minutes. For ads longer than 5 minutes in duration, there are some differences, please contact our Teleshopping team on 020 7339 4700.

THE PRE-PRODUCTION STAGE

This focuses on your ad at script stage. You don't have to submit a pre-production script before you shoot the ad, but it helps avoid unnecessary and expensive surprises later on. You (as the advertiser, or the advertising agency), submit the script, including necessary story boards and substantiation, to our online system, CopyCentral. This is then read by your assigned Clearcast contact (see page 15: ONE POINT OF CONTACT), who does a 'first read' and sends any claims of an advanced scientific or technical nature requiring substantiation, to a consultant. A 'second read' is then carried out by a second member of the team, meaning your work benefits from two pairs of eyes and you receive feedback highlighting any changes the script needs, usually within 3 working days (down from 4 working days pre-2018). Once these changes have been made, you submit an amended script.

If no further changes are necessary, the script is approved and can go through to the 2nd stage of the process below, following further advice from your Clearcast contact about possible timing restrictions etc. that might need to be applied to your ad.

THE POST-PRODUCTION STAGE

This stage is when we consider either rough-cut or clocked ads alongside a script. At this point we will check your ad for flashing images and regular patterns (to ensure it won't cause seizures in people with photosensitive epilepsy) and check that your ad's 'Supers' (the super-imposed legal text) is the right height, is being held on screen for long enough and is legible. If we approved a pre-production script, tell us the submission number of the approved script. The ad is then watched in our daily viewing meeting to check we are satisfied with the ad's overall compliance with the Codes. It is then either approved or rejected. If it is approved, we update CopyCentral (with possible restrictions, e.g. not to be shown around children's programming) and CopyCentral then sends you (or whoever submitted the ad) an auto-email letting you know that a final action has been applied to the submission. The broadcasters will also be able to see the ad has been approved. If it is rejected, we will explain why, and you need to make the necessary alterations to your produced ad and resubmit to us. A clocked version of all rough-cuts approved also need to be submitted for final approval as we formally clear only clocked ads.

SIGNING UP TO OUR SUBMISSION SYSTEM

If you'd like to sign up to CopyCentral please email help@clearcast.co.uk for info on how you can do this.

ONE POINT OF CONTACT

Each Clearcast contact deals with his or her own portfolio of accounts (normally advertising agencies). Everything that comes to us from that agency will be dealt with by the Clearcast contact assigned to the agency. To find your contact, go to the 'Contact Us' section on clearcast.co.uk and type your company name in the box marked 'Find your copy clearance executive'.

HOW LONG DOES CLEARANCE TAKE?

In 2018 we reduced our script turnaround time from 4 to 3 days for 85% of scripts. We aim to feed back on a finished ad within 2 days (95% of finished ads). However this can lengthen in busy periods (September to December and also Easter tend to be particularly busy for us) and for complex scripts. Additional substantiation and script revisions also need extra time to be assessed. If your script needs to be sent to one of our consultants (because of the nature of claims being made, for example regarding nutrition), we would advise you allow at least one extra week for this, as our consultants work for us part-time on a freelance basis.

For advertisers and agencies new to TV, we have two dedicated Senior Copy Executives who will help you through your first submissions and getting your ad to air.

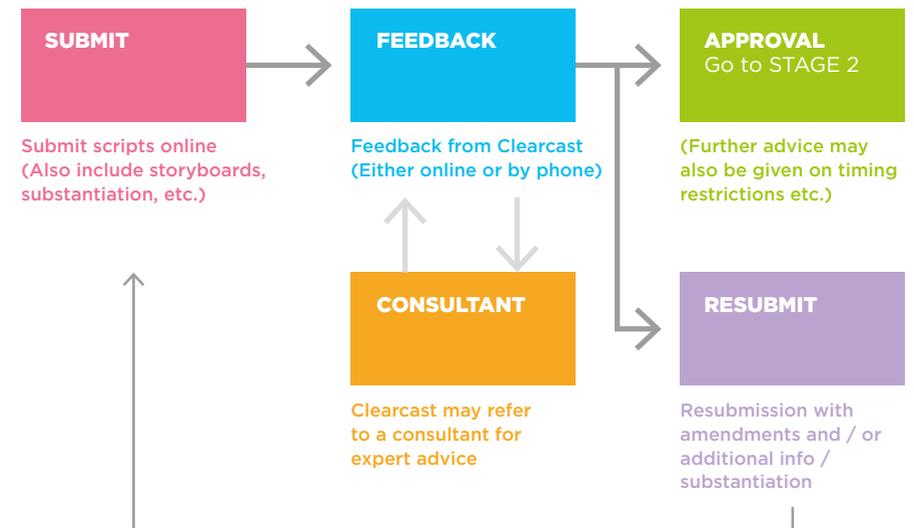

Search 'new' on clearcast.co.uk for more info.

SPEEDING UP MY CLEARANCE...

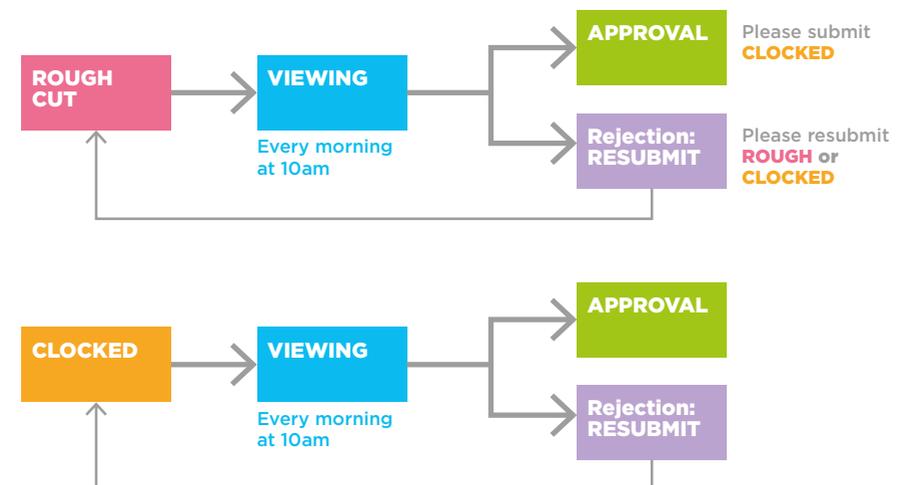

Following a few basic steps can help your ad get cleared in the fastest possible time:

1. Book yourself on a Clearcast training course – the better you understand how and why we work the way we do, the more time you'll save. Search 'training' on clearcast.co.uk.
2. If your ad contains claims, try to identify any claims in your script and submit any substantiation you have with the first version of your script, if possible.
3. Take advantage of our Meet the Consultants sessions; complicated claims can be discussed before a script is received. Find more information in the Extras section of this brochure.
4. If we've previously approved a claim that you are making again in a new ad, let us know the clock number of the previous ad.
5. Get your Supers right first time:
 - Make use of the Duration of Hold Calculator on our website, which instantly calculates how long you'll need to display your Legal Supers on screen for, based on how many words you use. Search 'calculator' on clearcast.co.uk.
 - The Clearcast Testcard is designed to make it easier for you to make sure the size of your Supers meets the minimum height requirements. Search 'testcard' on clearcast.co.uk.
6. Allow enough time for your clearance, it is an integral part of the ad production process. If you are working to a particularly tight timescale it is best to check your Clearcast contact can accommodate this. We strongly advise against committing to shoots without approved pre-production scripts.

STAGE 1 PRE-PRODUCTION CLEARANCE PROCESS

STAGE 2 POST-PRODUCTION CLEARANCE PROCESS

EXTRAS

We don't charge for normal clearance of ads shown in standard commercial breaks on the channels for which we clear, as broadcasters fund this work. However, depending on the nature of your campaign, you might need these extra services that we provide. Some are chargeable and some are not. The “+” means the service is chargeable so please visit our website for more information.

TRAINING +

We're dedicated to improving the knowledge and expertise of all the advertisers, agencies and broadcasters we work with every day to get ads on air. We offer a range of different learning opportunities from introductory courses to specialist courses to in-house bespoke training for advertisers, agencies and broadcasters, and offer CPD accredited courses.

INTERNATIONAL AD COMPLIANCE TRAINING + (IACT)

With different ad rules in multiple countries, it's important you understand the requirements you face right at the start of an international campaign. Clearcast and EASA run face to face and online training that provides essential guidance to help you create compliant ads in multiple countries across eight different sectors.

OUT OF HOURS AND LIVE CLEARANCES +

Increasing numbers of ads take the traditional spot to new levels of creativity and some of these require live, weekend or other off-site clearances. We're keen to work with you to get these ideas to air and can provide services out of hours to make this happen. Do contact us as early as possible so we can help you plan.

PITCH PERFECT +

Advertisers want to be reassured that creative ideas being pitched by agencies can actually run on TV. To meet this need we provide a pitch script clearance service.

COPY DEVELOPMENT +

We can offer Copy Development support for advertisers and agencies that want to involve Clearcast as an integrated part of the creative development process. This may be at an early stage to prevent issues that would otherwise arise close to transmission, for example by providing an indication of whether a creative idea is problematic and what will be needed for claims verification. The Copy Development service is also particularly useful when global copy needs to be reworked for the UK when it contains claims or other material that can't run here. Alternatively it may be to help solve problems that have emerged during the clearance process, for example where help is needed for major rewrites to meet the requirements of the Codes.

MEET THE CONSULTANTS +

Our 'Meet the Consultants' sessions allow advertisers to discuss ongoing work or future campaigns with our expert consultants. This is highly beneficial if an ad contains complex technical claims or promotes significant product developments. It can also be used as part of the process to clear claims early on in the advertising process so scripts can be approved more quickly when they are submitted.

EDIT TO CLEAR +

We offer an edit-to-clear service for clients who want to simplify the process of getting super imposed text and flashing right, or who are up against tight deadlines. We can also help advertisers who need international ads re-versioned to meet UK requirements.

TV ADMIN

Our TV Admin department works with clients in all sectors both within the UK and internationally. We are ideally placed to assist our clients with copy advice, clearance, delivery and rotations where needed. We can help advertisers and agencies who want to outsource their admin or who need temporary additional support. We can also help with global legal advice. Working directly with us is an efficient way of ensuring that you have all it takes to provide clear, timely communication and management of the clearance of copy and claims support as well as delivery. In addition to TV we can also help with admin for radio, cinema, VoD and mobile.

MEDIACENTRAL

In 2017 our Business Affairs department used its far reaching industry knowledge and contacts to launch an online, task-based portal for the video ad industry. It's designed for anyone who needs help navigating the world of video ads and is free to users and companies featured. Visit www.mediacentral.com.

VoD

Ads on Video on Demand (VoD) services are regulated according to the CAP Code, which includes VoD specific elements. We provide an advisory service for VoD publishers providing, for example, content indicators to help publishers schedule ads sensitively. Tell us when you are submitting an ad if you want it reviewed for VoD only or for both linear (broadcast) and VoD.

LATE CLEARANCE +

This is a service for ads that require provisional approval but can only be sent to us late in the day. For further details, please contact your clearance executive or email enquiries@clearcast.co.uk.

LONG-FORM TEleshopping ADS +

If your ad is over 5 minutes in length and is being submitted for the first time, it will be subject to a charge. Contact our Teleshopping team on 020 7339 4700. Also, search 'teleshopping guide' on our website to view our useful booklet.

ONLINEFLASHTEST.COM +

This service checks your ad complies with Ofcom's guidelines on flashing images and regular patterns to avoid causing seizures for people with photosensitive epilepsy. You can upload your ad as soon as it is ready and the automated test will email you the results within minutes. It is the first of its kind to be online.

ONLINE SUBTITLING

In 2018 we partnered with Digital Nirvana to provide www.subtitlenow.com, a service making subtitling easy by allowing agencies and post houses to upload an ad and receive back a file containing accurate subtitles a few minutes later.

If you would like more information on any of the above services, or have other questions please contact enquiries@clearcast.co.uk.

CASE STUDY: COPY DEVELOPMENT + CONSULTANT BIOGLAN SUPERFOODS CACAO

Copy Development is a premium service that provides advice and guidance to agencies and advertisers when they are developing their concepts, creative and claims. Often advertisers want to make claims that require assessment by one of our external consultants. In these cases the consultant will be involved in the copy development discussions.

THE CLIENT

Bioglan Superfoods is a product range belonging to Pharmacare. They requested a Copy Development meeting with our nutrition consultant to discuss the storyboard for their Organic Cacao product.

THE MEETING

The meeting included the Copy Development manager Seb Lynch, Clearcast's nutrition consultant, Pharmacare's Head of Marketing, Regulatory & Technical Manager and Brand Manager. In the meeting we talked through the storyboard, identifying the claims that required substantiation and discussed what that substantiation should look like. We also discussed amendments to both the voice over and the visuals that would be necessary to ensure the ad was not misleading and was in line with Nutrition and Health Claim regulations.

THE FOLLOW-UP

There remained a claim which required further research by the consultant so the following day she provided further guidance to address this one outstanding point. Pharmacare now had a clear understanding of what was required from them to produce an approvable script. Before submitting the final script for clearance they sent their updated storyboard to Seb for a sense check. Following guidance from Seb they made a final amendment and were ready for clearance.

It was a really invaluable session where they helped us to identify exactly what we needed to submit

CLEARANCE

Pharmacare submitted their script and substantiation with confidence, in the knowledge that they had followed the development advice and had guidance from the nutrition consultant who would be responsible for reviewing the final script on Clearcast's behalf.

As it happened the Copy Team raised an issue resulting from a precedent which would have required extra superimposed text, but fortunately Seb was able to help resolve this due to his in-depth knowledge of the claims and the relevant regulation, and the script was duly approved. This provides a good example of how useful it can be to involve Clearcast so closely when developing a campaign.

TESTIMONIAL

"The session was extremely helpful, all of us thought it was really worthwhile and has helped move things on considerably in only 90 minutes – saving us lots of back and forths. It was a really invaluable session where they helped us to identify exactly what we needed to submit."

CLEARCAST FOR MEDIA OWNERS AND MEDIA BUYING AGENCIES

CARIA®

In use since 2003, CARIA® is the gold standard cross-industry campaign management portal for TV media. It's a web-based, secure and confidential platform which streamlines the administration process for everybody involved in airtime booking, copy scheduling and campaign administration. It helps minimise transmission copy mistakes and saves time and money for sales houses, agencies and advertisers. CARIA® is owned and operated by Optimad Media Systems, part of the IMD group and is commissioned on behalf of TV sales houses in the UK and Ireland by Clearcast. Clearcast's commitment and support from the IPA means that the basic service comprising essential features and functionality is available free of charge (including training) to all IPA and IAPI member agencies.

ATTRIBUTION

Our TV Attribution service underpins the analysis of television advertising in the UK and facilitates a range of activities, from media auditing, to lead generation, to share of voice analysis. We take BARB reported commercial copy, first standardising product names across broadcasters and then adding advertiser, holding company and buying agency names. During 2018 we will also be adding Creative Agency. BARB subscribers using the Attribution dataset can do analysis such as:

- Break down commercial impacts for a Buying Agency by advertising sales house, to see what share they are taking
- As an advertiser, find out which competitor brands are currently on air
- Find out which Buying Agency is buying spots on a competitor for a particular brand

We also provide Sponsorship Attribution data for ITV, Channel 4, Channel 5, Sky Media and Box Television.

The service is managed by Clearcast and has been operated by IMD Optimad since 2007. Subscribers to the service include BARB data bureaux and research companies.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Our operations team are there to help you once you submit your finished ad

Who is my contact at Clearcast and what do I do if they're away?

If you are new to Clearcast and don't have regular contact with us, you will be given a contact based on the first letter of your company name, i.e. if you are called "Joe Bloggs Advertising" you will be assigned to the person who looks after "Miscellaneous J".

If you go on to have a more regular on-going relationship with us, or are likely to, you will be assigned to a Clearcast contact's portfolio.

We have 54 members of staff. Including our Teleshopping team, we have 27 people working with portfolios of agencies that regularly submit ads for clearance. In addition we have a three-person Cover team to help cover the work of staff not in the office. We also have two Senior Executives (New Business) on hand to assist anyone who's new to the process and needs support with their initial clearances.

So if your regular contact is away, email cover@clearcast.co.uk or speak to our Receptionist on 020 7339 4700 who will connect you to the correct cover person. In addition to your copy contact, you may also be contacted by one of our Operations team. They are there to help you once you submit your finished ad. They may be in touch if your finished ad does not match the approved script or some of the required information we need is missing, such as artists featured in the ad or details of any music used.

What are scheduling and timing restrictions?

Some ads have to be given timing or other restrictions limiting when they can be shown (or the environment in which they can be scheduled if VoD). A complete list of these can be found by searching 'timing' on clearcast.co.uk. But the most common examples are shown opposite.

Can I appeal the decision that has been made on my ad?

We have a two stage appeals process. In the first instance you can ask for a Policy and Copy Meeting (PCM for short) to consider your arguments. Made up of our Copy Group Managers and the Head of Copy Clearance, PCM exists to ensure an advertiser's arguments have been considered by a broad range of senior staff. If agreement still can't be reached, scripts and/or ads can be submitted to the Clearcast Copy Committee (made up of representatives of broadcasters, with observer members from ISBA and the IPA) for a view, which will be final. You will need to alert your Clearcast contact if you would like to have your ad submitted to the Copy Committee.

COMMON RESTRICTIONS

KA Ad for sanitary products or condoms. Not to be transmitted in or adjacent to programmes commissioned for, principally directed at or likely to appeal to children under 10.

KB Contains content that might cause physical, mental or moral harm to children and/or action that, if emulated, could cause danger or harm to children. Not to be transmitted in or adjacent to programmes commissioned for, principally directed at or likely to appeal to children under 16.

KC Ad for <Specific Category>. Not to be transmitted in or adjacent to programmes commissioned for, principally directed at or likely to appeal to children under 16. Categories are: Lotteries, Football Pools, Equal-chance Gaming, Prize Gaming, Category D Gaming Machines, Licensed Medicines, Vitamins or Other Dietary Supplements, Drinks Containing Less Than 1.2% Alcohol, Computer or Console Games Rated 15 or Above, Matches, Trailers for Films or Videos with Certificate 15 or Above.

TS (To be transmitted after 7.30pm)

This restriction includes the lesser KA, KB, or KC restrictions

This restriction is likely to be assigned for reasons such as:

- Potential for emulation. Not suitable for young children as copying the behaviour may result in them placing themselves in a potentially harmful situation (but not life threatening). Scenes of threat and horror in the home.
- Moderate innuendo. Moderate, non-graphic sexual activity, this might be nudity in a sexual context.
- Interpersonal contact may be strong but brief. Moderate or strong, but brief, aggressive behaviour. Visuals of injuries, which aren't too graphic but may be bloody.

TN (to be transmitted after 9.00pm)

This restriction includes the lesser KA, KB, or KC and TS restrictions

This restriction is likely to be assigned for reasons such as:

- Risk of emulation will be serious and likely to result in serious harm.
- Strong sexual content (but not overtly graphic) including sexual entertainment. Open discussion of sex. Strong and/or crude innuendo. Sexual nudity (no nipples/pubic hair/genitalia).
- Strong and repeated violence. For example, scenes of threat and/or horror. Aggressive behaviour or visuals of injuries, brief scenes of torture.

Do you have an escalation process?

Yes we have an escalation process in place for when the advertiser/agency may want to escalate certain issues relating to us or for when we may want to escalate certain issues with the advertiser/agency. The escalation cases could range from delays, to restrictions put on ads considered unnecessary, to relationships between us and you.

Much more detail on this can be found by searching 'escalation' on clearcast.co.uk.

What is a clock number?

A clock number is a unique alphanumeric identification number used to identify an ad and its creators/source (the advertising agency or advertiser). The number is used from the clearance process through to transmission and in post-transmission reporting. More detail about clock numbers can be found by searching 'clock' on clearcast.co.uk.
